Seven-time All-America City Winner!

Mayor Sherman P. Lea, Sr.

As Mayor of the first city inducted into the All-America City Hall of Fame and a seven time All-America City it is my pleasure to serve alongside a Council and City Administration that recognizes the importance of thinking strategically and acting on priorities. This plan captures the Council's strategic priorities and defines the outcomes we seek to achieve on behalf of the citizens. The Strategic Plan, our City's comprehensive plan, related specific purpose or place-based plans, and our annual budget represent what it is we as a City do and why we do it. It is through these efforts we work to ensure we continue to have a City offering the best opportunity for the most people – in short, that it remains a great day in Roanoke!

I encourage you to read this document to better understand our Vision for the community, how we plan on getting there, and how you can measure our progress.

City Manager Bob Cowell, Jr.

It is my honor to serve the Mayor and Council and on their behalf, the community, to lead an organization that works every day to deliver the services demanded and to offer opportunity to each and every resident and business of Roanoke. This plan provides the Vision established by Council and the steps necessary to realize that Vision. This plan also provides how we as an organization will conduct our business and sets the stage for the annual budget and capital improvements program. With the leadership of the Mayor and Council, we continue to make progress as a City - routinely recognized as one of the best places in America to live, operate a business, secure an education, or visit.

I encourage you to review what follows and join us in keeping Roanoke a wonderful place for all that call it home.

Purpose of Strategic Planning

A strategic plan should serve as the physical product of strategic thinking – that is, delineation of a community vision and the strategies and actions that will be necessary to progress toward that vision. The Council, City Government and community should ideally evaluate every opportunity or challenge that presents itself against this vision and its associated strategies to best determine how to allocate their time, money, and other resources – all of which are limited.

The Strategic Plan is a companion to the City's Comprehensive Plan which represents how the City will physically change over time. Together, the Strategic Plan and the Comprehensive Plan provide a firm foundation upon which to build more detailed neighborhood and special purpose plans, the annual budget, the multi-year capital improvements program, regulations and ordinances, and other associated public policy and implementation documents and initiatives.

...ideally evaluate every opportunity or challenge that presents itself against this vision and its associated strategies to best determine how to allocate their time, money and other resources...

Ideally one should be able to review this document and gain a firm understanding of where the City intends to go, and generally how it proposes to get there, as well as gain insight into how progress along the way is intended to be measured.

Strategic Planning Process

This document represents an update to the previously adopted Strategic Plan adopted in February of 2021 – prompted by the continued need to address recovery from COVID-19 and the intentional advancement of equity and well-being within the community. The City has engaged in strategic thinking for many years. Much of what is included in this plan has for a number of years, been included in the annual budget and other policy documents.

The process used in the development of this plan was an enhancement to that used in crafting the previous version. This update was built upon the framework of:

- Listen
- Learn
- Discuss
- Present
- Act

The first step in this process was listening to the community regarding the City's seven priorities, the strategies used to progress on those priorities and the outcomes that are sought. This was achieved through virtual conversations involving focus groups led by Council. These focus groups complemented the earlier virtual conversations led by Council. The virtual conversations were accompanied by key stakeholder interviews. Interviews were conducted with key stakeholders regarding the priorities and the strategies currently used to advance on the priorities. Finally, this was all further complemented by a broad discussion of the community's response to and recovery from COVID via the Star City Strong Recovery and Resiliency Advisory Panel.

The second step was learning from the community and the staff about each of the seven priorities, the strategies used to progress on those priorities and the outcomes that have been achieved. This occurred during the most recent Council Strategic Plan retreat. This step included presentation of information, studies, briefings, etc. by senior City staff and other content experts.

The third step in this process was the Council discussing what they heard and learned regarding each of the seven priorities, the strategies used to progress on the priorities and the outcomes that have been achieved and/or are sought. This was done at the most recent Council Strategic Plan retreat.

The fourth step proposed in this process was presenting the draft strategic plan and items that warrant further development. For example, implementation of the various initiatives and programs supported by ARPA funding and other state and federal funding. As the work on these progress they will be incorporated into further discussions with Council and where appropriate into the development of annual budgets or policy documents.

The final step proposed in this process is acting upon any revisions in priorities and strategies. Some of this action may come about as a result of a working group's efforts along the way, while the majority will come about via formal adoption of a revised Strategic Plan and the proposal and adoption of the FY23 budget. Much of the groundwork for this step was set at the most recent Council Budget Planning Retreat held prior to the kick-off of the annual budget process and will be concluded upon adoption of the FY23 and FY24 budgets.

This process has been designed to be responsive to the discussion held by Council in the adoption of the FY22 budget; timely and meaningful - bridging the political call for action and the necessary bureaucratic work of devising legislation and formulating budgets. This intentional process is necessary both to better the chances that quality and sustainable strategies are the result and also in response to the continued economic uncertainty associated with COVID-19. The Council will review the Strategic Plan on an annual basis, making adjustments as appropriate, following a process similar to that used in the creation of previous plans. Additionally, City Management will provide the Council with regular progress reports on the Plan and a performance measure report annually.
